

UNIVERSITY
CANADA WEST

GO WEST. GET THE EDGE ON LEARNING.

University Canada West (UCW) of Victoria B.C.,

Canada's newest university begins instruction in 2005. The University invites applications for part-time positions teaching introductory courses in Arts and Science.

The winter quarter begins early January and ends late March. Subject areas include English composition, mathematics, biology, microeconomics and physical geography. The spring quarter begins early April and ends late June. Subjects include English literature, computer science, psychology, ecology and macroeconomics. The fall quarter begins late September and ends late December. Subjects include astronomy, modern Canadian history, moral philosophy, sociology, and political science.

We seek applicants with post-secondary experience and the Ph.D. degree. In some instances others can be considered. Applicants should be amenable to participating within a learning team. Experience with Internet course development and delivery is an asset.

Please include a curriculum vitae and names of three referees who can assess your teaching performance. Preferably, one referee should be a post-secondary administrator in the applicant's field of expertise.

A private university, UCW is an equal opportunity employer welcoming applications from all qualified persons.

Closing date for receipt of applications is November 6, 2004.
